National Bakers' Committee, which represents bakers' unions throughout the country, resigned at an emergency meeting this afternoon after electing a committee empowered to prepare for a strike of the industry. The Jerusalem Poet learns. The cooperative bakeries are to be asked to join the strike.

The committee was also instructed to seek redress before the High Court against the Ministry of Commerce and Industry which, they claim, had explicitly promised them to raise the price of bread higher than had been done.

The meeting is understood to have been stormy, with the pent up bitterness accumulated during the long negotiations coming to the surface.

The issue revolves around the bakers' demand for a 19 pruta increase on a loaf of bread and a recognition by the Ministry of Commerce and Industry that bakeries operate at a loss. The Prime Ministers' Economic Advisory Staff also came to the bitter conclusion, though it pointed out that if bakeries were efficient this would not be the case.

With this week's increase in the price of standard bread. They claim that this barrely covers the recent jump in the cost of fuel and the last increase in the content of the las

French Launch Third Drive

HANOI, Monday (Rester).

Five thousand French Union troops, supported with tanks and fighter pianes, have launched a big new drive to push back the Vistminh forces threatening the northwestern defances of Hanoi, the French High Command announced today.

Their offensive was isunched to kilometres northwest of the etty yesterday, midway between the towns of Phucyen and Vinkyen.

Good progress was being made today, the spokesman and. The new drive is similar to the two heavy thrusts successfully completed northeast and northwest of Hanoi last week. More than 10,000 Vistnamese demonstrated here today against the possible partition of their country.

The French garrison had been ordered to stand by in case of anti-French incidents, but the protest meeting in from of the local theatre went off calmly. Most Victnamese shops remained closed and the streets were deserted. Speakers at the meeting described the Victnamese hops remained closed and the streets were deserted. whereby the appellant was ordered to pay to the respondents IL. 1,000.

In 1947, the appellant, together with two of the respondents, had founded a theatrical group called The Aden Artists Group in Palestine. Looking for a suitable place to stage their performanced, the group approached Mr. Ya new Mahls, father of the respondents, who owned a building in Disengoff Street, Tel Aviv. and obtained from him a licence to use the roof of the building for the said purpose. Mr. Mahls addressed a letter to the group, making it clear that he did not intend to let the roof, but only grant a licence, and asked for no rent whatsoever. After various structural changes had been carried out by the group, performances were given on the roof until August, 1948, when two of the respondents, members of the group, announced their intention to disciple the partnership.

The District Court found as a matter of fact that from the moment enwards the licence given to the appellant had ceased to exist and he was to be regarded as a trespasser. In any event, the licence was cancelled in October, 1960, when Mr. Ya'acov Mahla died and the building passed to the respondents at the building passed to the respondents as the District Court, inter alia, for an injunction restraining the appellant, however, continued to stage performances, whereupon the respondents asked in the District Court, inter alia, for an injunction restraining the appellant; Mr. William of the District Court stage of the respondents: Mr. William of the District Court refused to grant an injunction, pointing and that the average was an an injunction, pointing and that the average was an an injunction, pointing and that the average was an anter of the Cordinance was an extended to grant an injunction, pointing and that the average was an an injunction, pointing and that the average was an anternating the appellant and injunction, pointing and the thought of the Cordinance was a manual properties.

new economic policy were not as yet fully manifest. Since then, some small cooperatives and other establishments have succumbed to the strains of the times and it is likely that the real number of those at present engaged in industry and crafts is somewhat smaller.

It may be argued that artisans and managers are not members of trade unions, but the total number of persons working in workshops employing up to five persons was only 27,000 according to the census, and the number of managers in the whole industry was 2,607. The gab between the figures thus remains and needs explanation.

One further point deserves attention: the relatively small number of cierks (4,629) em.
